I'm vegan, as you can tell by the fact that I have a lithe, sinewy body. I'm a heterosexual transvestite, as you can tell by the fact that I wear female clothes and fancy girls. I'm not a goth. This is an understandable error, but there is a difference between a metallor who cross-dresses and a goth. And if need be I will fight you to demonstrate that difference. I've got nothing against goths. Some of my best friends are goths. Their food is lovely and they have natural rhythm. www.andrewoneill.co.uk

Thu 17
Barry Cryer & Ronnie Golden
£12adv

Barry is a household name (like Domestros and Cif) famed for his legendary comedy writing alongside performing his classic standup. Ronnie, former lead singer/songwriter/guitarist with seminal late 70s cult rock band Fabulous Poodles, also works as a standup. The live show features Barry's formidable collection of one-liners and tall stories alongside Ronnie's versatile musicianship and awesome array of musical impressions.

Fri 18
Tim Key
£10.50

"He's a genius plain and simple." - TIME OUT. "The appeal of the show is in this off-kilter ambience, and in the beauty that peeps through the silliness" - THE GUARDIAN. "An indefinably crackers hour" - THE INDEPENDENT. "In any other sphere apart from comedy, we'd probably class this way of looking at the world as certifiable. Here it feels like genius" - THE TELEGRAPH. "Wielding a crowbar, Key is foremost a brilliant showman" - THE STAGE. Edinburgh Comedy Award Winner, 2009. www.timkey.co.uk

Or, The Whale
£7adv £8door plus support

Voices everywhere, caught again in the devil's snare," belts lead vocalist and guitarist Alex Robins of San Francisco-based Or, the Whale on the second song of the band's newest album. The song, "Datura," is a rollicking ode to the hallucinogenic properties of jimson weed, but could just as easily be a description of the band itself. Their soaring vocal harmonies and inspired guitar riffs yield a fiendishly potent listening experience, which may even provoke your own hallucinations. www.orthewhale.com

The Christians
£16.50adv £17.50door

The Christians first three singles all made the Top 40, and their eponymously-titled 1987 debut album entered the album chart at number 2. The highest placed single from this album was "Ideal World", which reached number 14. Their second album, Colour released in 1990, reached number one, and in 1992 the follow-up, Happy in Hell charted at number 18.
