Wed 8
GULP

£6.50adv • plus Maia

Gulp is Guto Pryce (Super Furry Animals) and Lindsey Leven, with Gid Goundrey providing guitar and Gwion Llewelyn (Race Horses) on drums. Fuzzed-up bass, dream-folk vocals, acoustic and electronic drums and synths...their cinematic and ethereal sound is a musical manifestation of the road trip; the landscape and events along the way, filmic scenes and melodies – from the sun-quinting, flickering saturation and lens flare of the Californian desert to the gloamin of rural Scottish and Welsh homescapes. Thu 9
BEN POOLE

£10adv £12otd

When you hear comments such as the above from some of the worlds' greatest guitar players and one of the leading UK roots magazines you just know they have heard something very special. Twenty-five year old Ben Poole is currently being described as the most exciting young blues guitarist to come out of the UK for a long, long time. "F***ing amazing! I loved his playing... I really loved his playing!" - Jeff Beck. "A really great player!" - Gary Moore. benpooleband.com

SCOTT MATTHEWS

£10adv £12otd

Hailing from Wolverhampton, Ivor Novello award-winning singer-songwriter Scott Matthews started 2014 with a brand new self-produced album entitled 'Home Part 1', which was released early in March. It marked his fourth studio album since the release of his debut 'Passing Stranger' in 2006. Scott's musical past has seen him experiment with funk, indie, rock and soul, but his solo career has seen him take a more focused route towards folk and blues, indeed drawing comparisons to the likes of American songwriter Jeff Buckley. Thu 16
ERLAND & THE CARNIVAL

£8adv £10door

When unassuming young Orkney music-maker Erland Cooper picked up his guitar and travelled the length of the country to play a show in London's Notting Hill, little did he know that a chance encounter with musical veteran Simon Tong (The Verve, The Good The Bad & The Queen, and Gorillaz) would be the start of a unique songwriting friendship. Together they formed Erland & The Carnival and now, nearly a decade later, arrives Closing Time - the band's third, most accomplished album yet. Sun 26
JON ALLEN

£13.50adv £15otd

Jon Allen has a voice you don't forget. Just ask Jools Holland, who demanded Jon appear on "Later..." after hearing him on the radio. Or Duffy, who heard his version of "Mercy" and called him in to the studio – only to find that he wasn't the black soulman she had imagined. Or the BBC producers repeatedly A-listing his songs. Or fans Guy Chambers, or Mark Knopfler, or Jo Whaley, all of whom have been entranced by his trademark mix of catchy tunes and folk- and Sixties-inflected country blues. Forty Tenth Promotions presents...

Wed 29
BASKERY

£10adv £12door

No matter where they go in the world, people tell the sisters that they've never heard or seen anything like it, that they have a completely unique sound and perform with what seems to be an inexhaustible energy. That's Baskery's aim, to never stop surprising. Baskery is a band built on what three people can do together. The music is not to be confused with country or bluegrass just because the instrumentation involves a double bass, a six string banjo and acoustic guitar. baskery.com

VIC GODARD & THE SUBWAY SECT

£8adv £10otd • plus Brassick Bears and Kevin Hewick

Formed at the suggestion of Sex Pistols manager Malcolm McLaren, Vic Godard and his Subway Sect have been long-term staples on the post-punk scene since 1976. They still regularly perform, albeit with an ever-changing line-up of band members. A resurgence of interest in his work has seen him find fans with, amongst others, Marc Riley on BBC 6Music, who has booked Vic and the boys for several live radio sessions. Meanwhile 2014 saw the release of an impressive double album career retrospective '30 Odd Years', covering an eclectic range of material, from punk to ska to cabaret/musichall and jazz.
